Geographic Distribution of Physicians in Canada:
Beyond How Many and Where

J. Roger Pitblado, Ph.D.

Professor, Department of Geography
Faculty Investigator, Centre for Rural and Northern Health Research
Laurentian University

The Canadian Institute for Health Information has just released a report titled Geographic Distribution of Physicians in Canada: Beyond How Many and Where. Written by Raymond W. Pong and J. Roger Pitblado of the Centre for Rural and Northern Health Research, this report examines the geographical distribution characteristics of Canada's physicians. It then goes beyond the "how many" and "where" by examining work-load differences and urban-rural differences in practice characteristics. In this seminar, Dr. Pitblado will present the major findings.

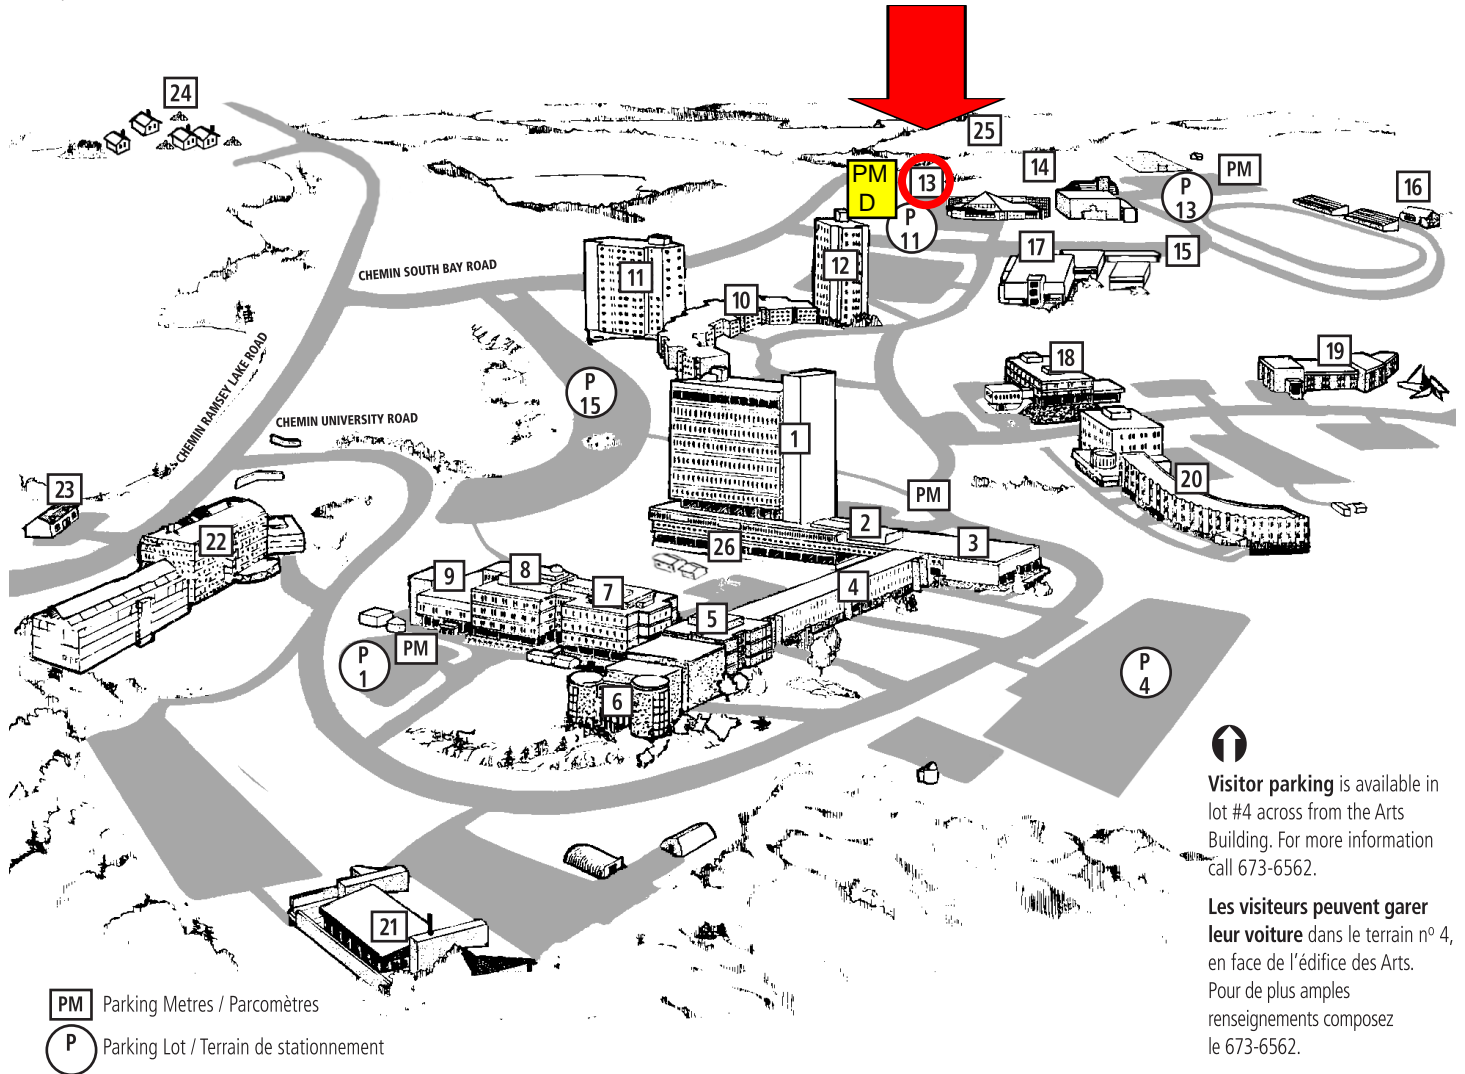

Roger Pitblado is a Full Professor in the Department of Geography and a long-time Faculty Investigator of CRaNHR. His work includes the analysis of the distribution of Canada's health care providers.

This free seminar is open to all interested persons
